

It is essential that we keep a wide variety of expression and opinion in media of all kinds. The effort to allow an ever narrowing ownership, amounting to a monopoly of media in this country by the FCC shows that the FCC is unwilling to take the responsibility for the protection of the public airwaves which is its duty. The narrowing of ownership and of viewpoints is already proving a threat to our precious democracy. The airwaves belong to the public, and not to hold public hearings on such an important issue is more than negligent.

Sincerely,
Dr. Hillary Adams
